

ELECTRIFYING STUDENT OF THE MONTH

February 2010

HOPE HEADRICK

is The Power of Community

Hope Headrick is Tri-County Electric's Electrifying Student for February. Hope was selected for demonstrating the four core values of Touchstone Energy: integrity, innovation, accountability and commitment to community.

Never shying away from responsibility, Hope is dedicated to helping her school, community and her family in whatever capacity needed. As a senior at Guymon High School, Hope stays busy on the yearbook staff, in show choir, student council where she serves as the events coordinator. She is also active in soccer, cheerleading and softball.

Also an active member at the First Presbyterian Church in Guymon and the United Methodist Church Youth group, Hope enjoys being in the youth praise band, being a kindergarten Sunday school teacher, going on mission trips and being a vacation bible school teacher.

During the summer months, Hope works as a life guard at the Guymon Public Pool where she also provides private swimming lessons.

After high school, Hope plans to attend Oklahoma State University where she will seek a degree in speech pathology. She intends to work with children once she graduates.

"Hope is motivated to help the community for many reasons," said Jackie Carter, cheerleading coach at Guymon High School. "She likes being involved because it gives her a voice. Her family is active in the community and they motivate her to continue with their cause. But most of all, Hope truly enjoys helping others."

Pete and Deborah Headrick of Guymon are Hope's parents.
